The kingdom is under attack by an army of troll warriors, and it will take all the knights of LEGO Castle to stop them! Who will come to help the knights battle this new danger? (You'll find a hint hiding on this page!)

TROLL WARRIOR

These wicked warriors travel the world on land and sea, robbing peaceful villages of their gold everywhere they go. All they care about is loot and plunder...and fighting! Watch out for the Troll Captain, the meanest of the bunch!

BRICKMASTER FACT!

The king and the knights don't know it, but the trolls are working for the evil wizard who attacked the kingdom a year ago! He has promised them treasure if they capture the castle for him ... but they'd rather capture it for themselves!

GIANT TROLL

ROCKET BUILDING!

Hey, Bikini Bottom builders! You demanded it, and you got it! Sandy's here, and she's built her very own rocket ship for even more out-of-this-world wackiness and adventures!

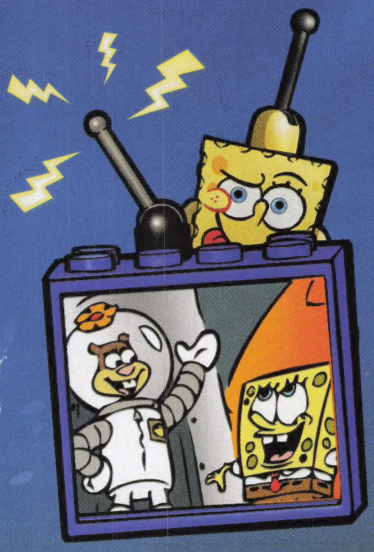
We spoke with LEGO senior model designer Karsten Juel Bunch about how #3831 Rocket Ride was created.

Q: Are you a SpongeBob fan?

A: I love SpongeBob, and whenever I get the chance, I watch it with my kids. At work, we have a big collection of episodes, and I have watched them over and over.

Q: What can you tell us about the Rocket Ride set?

A: It's mainly based on the "Sandy's Rocket" episode of the TV show, but we wanted to get some of the Jellyfish Fields in there, too, so we made it into a mission to catch jellyfish in outer space. Then we gave SpongeBob and his friends a moon buggy, since you need one of those on a space mission!



Q: How did you get the job of designing Sandy's famous rocket?

A: The rocket was one of the models that we knew would be great. Another designer and I worked on test models, and luckily enough, I was the one who got to make the final one!

Q: How did you design the set?

A: We started by watching a lot of episodes, and we gathered information from the internet by reading SpongeBob forums. Then we lined up all our different ideas for models. The best 5 were presented to Nickelodeon, and together with them, we decided which ones to make into official LEGO sets. We built lots of different versions of the rocket. Then we took the best one and improved it even more to make the final LEGO model!

Q: What's great about the model?

A: I like the rocketship shape, and I think the new space suits are great. Plus, it's SANDY'S ROCKET!!! The best vehicle in all of Bikini Bottom!

MARS TECH 2.0!

It's a quantum leap in the battle for Mars! The newest alien attack ships can convert from land to flight modes, creating double the trouble for our brave astronaut team. Even worse, they're piloted by Alien Commanders, a new breed of even bigger, tougher, and smarter invaders. To fight back, our astro-engineers have come up with a fleet of amazing vehicles with incredible multi-mode technology. Look out, aliens, because we've got a few new surprises of our own!

ETX ALIEN INFILTRATOR

Only Alien Commanders have the intelligence and skill to pilot these stealthy, multi-mode strike-ships that can convert from flight to terrain walker modes.

"Our radar doesn't even pick these things up. That's bad enough when they're flying and blasting at you, but there's nothing scarier than seeing a whole attack squad walking up over the edge of a crater."
